

TERTIARY EDUCATION SECTOR NATIONAL LEADERSHIP SUMMIT

Developing leadership and management practice within the Tertiary Education Sector

23rd & 24th May, Melbourne Business School

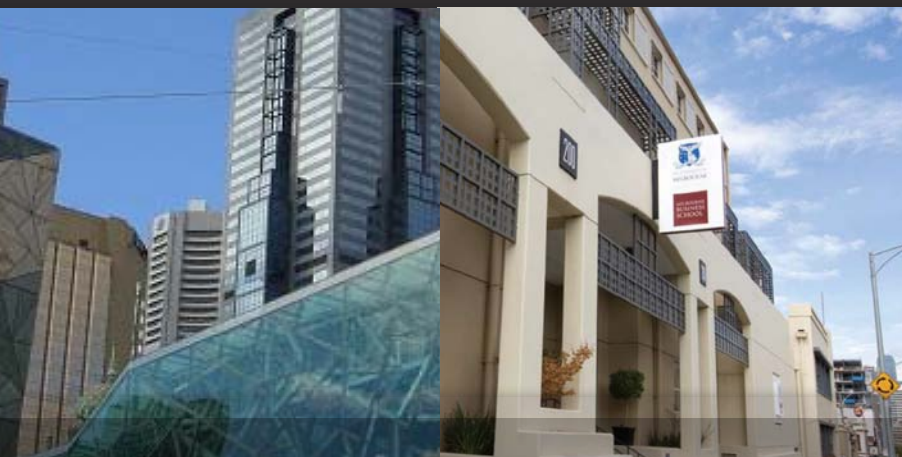

Participating Organisations

The National Leadership Summit will provide a critical opportunity to explore contemporary leadership best practice within the Australian tertiary education sector.

With a variety of leadership themes in mind, an outstanding group of senior leaders and leadership experts will address key aspects of good people management in the context of contemporary practice within the sector.

In addition to receiving first-hand information on leadership strategy and theory, Summit attendees will also benefit from an unparalleled opportunity to meet leaders from all levels of the tertiary education sector and network with their peers.

SUMMIT OVERVIEW

The National Leadership Summit is the peak leadership forum for the tertiary education sector. The forum annually attracts delegates from all Australian states and territories. With an overarching focus on building individual leadership capacity, the Summit will address a range of themes, each of which is important to the development of well-rounded, effective leaders. During their presentations, Summit speakers will explore leadership within the context of the tertiary education sector. In addition to providing a platform to explore contemporary leadership issues, the Summit provides a unique opportunity to develop invaluable professional and personal networks.

SUMMIT LOCATION & DATES

Melbourne has been chosen as the host city for the National Leadership Summit. The Summit will be held at Melbourne Business School, 200 Leicester Street, Carlton, Victoria on 23 & 24 May.

NETWORKING DRINKS

5.00 – 6.00 Monday 23rd May

Following the first day of the Summit, delegates are encouraged to attend the Summit Networking Drinks. During this informal session delegates will have the opportunity to relax and enjoy pre-dinner drinks and nibbles whilst socialising with their peers as well as meeting some of the Summit guest presenters.

SUMMIT AUDIENCE

The Summit audience will comprise a broad cross-section of managers from the Australian tertiary education sector, including teaching professionals, administrative professionals and researchers. Many Australian educational organisations will be represented at the Summit with over 200 participants expected to be in attendance.

WHO IS THE SUMMIT FOR?

The Summit has been developed for a variety of employees ranging from midlevel managers through to established leaders and decision-makers. Summit content will address leadership themes from both a personal and broader organisational perspective, offering participants practical advice in a relevant contextual setting.

Aspiring leaders and junior managers are also encouraged to attend the Summit. In addition to enhancing the sector's current leadership capacity, the Summit is fundamentally committed to developing the next generation of leaders.

SUMMIT ORGANISERS

The National Leadership Summit has been developed by the Workplace Training Advisory of Australia (WTAA) in consultation with many of Australia's leading public and private sector education organisations. Each year, the WTAA works with hundreds of Australian organisations to support the development of strong leadership practice across all sectors and industries.
